Timeless Design

BOSSCOM was the world's first company to supply high end aluminum cable covers to the public back in 2004. The full product strategy was thought and conceived in Copenhagen, Denmark. Today our exclusive aluminum cable covers are well known and used in industries like hifi / home cinema, lightning, hotel / conference and many more.

The BOSSCOM Alu Cable Covers is a super high quality aluminum cable cover system with Danish design and probably the best solution for hiding all surface wiring or pipework. The BOSSCOM Alu Cable Covers are suitable for HDMI, SCART, VGA and other mains leads. The width and height are optimized to match almost any kind of use.

Our very large product range of high end aluminum cable covers gives everyone the possibility to individually choose their color depending on the need and the industry. All cable cover colors are manufactured out of anodized aluminum. The white cable cover is power coated with white paint on the anodized surface. The BOSSCOM Alu Cable Covers simply can be screwed straight to the wall to give an effective and stylish finish to your installation.

Traditional Craftsmanship

In order to secure the absolute best and highest result every single aluminum cable cover is hand-assembled and tested with great care in Denmark.
